iF design award for Laufen

Swiss bathroom specialist, Laufen Bathrooms demonstrates its innovative spirit: The shower cabins in the ILBAGNOALESSI dOt bathroom collection have won the iF product design award 2009.

Relaxation for body and soul is the principle of the ILBAGNOALESSI dOt bathroom suite by Laufen Bathrooms. The bathroom, designed by Dutch architect, Wiel Arets exudes both a minimalist and sensuous appeal. The idea behind this design was translated so creatively to the shower cabin that it has now earned the iF product design award. The international panel that judged the coveted design award was particularly impressed by the completely frameless design: Curved glass panels appear to float above a flat shower tray. The glass modules are attached to the wall in places so that the fixtures are practically invisible.

No compromises are made by the Swiss bathroom specialist either when it comes to practicality: One of the curved panels is a sliding door, gliding to and fro on two rollers. A particularly ingenious aspect is that by mounting the glass modules inside the tray, the water stays inside and the tray need not be sealed with silicone.
